Dominion's Fifth Victory Loan Campaign Away to Strong Start

New "Canada Medal"

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—(CP)—Volunteer canvassers 150,000 strong, cheered by news that some industrial establishments and several communities had achieved their quotas even before the formal start of the campaign, embarked today upon a drive to raise $1,200,000,000 for the Dominion's Fifth Victory Loan—largest public financing effort yet undertaken by the Dominion—officially opened.

Headquarters of the National War Finance Committee expressed pleasure over evidences that small subscribers were ready to invest in the loan and at the same time cautioned against over-confidence.

London, Ont., was the first city actually to file an application for bonds, investing $100,000 of municipal funds.

Earlier it was announced regionally that the province of New Brunswick is investing $150,000 in the issue, $500,000 more than in the last lot. British Columbia government announced it will subscribe $6,000,000—$4,000,000 of provincial funds and $2,000,000 of the trust funds of the British Columbia Workmen's Compensation Board.

The loan is off to an "auspicious start," today's press statement said. From various parts of the Dominion came news of rural and small municipalities going over the top by pre-loan activity, even before the official opening this morning and workers in plants, offices and stores were reported as responding actively, it added.

REACH OBJECTIVE
Pines Creek, Alta., with a quota of $25,000, "beat the gun" and had more than achieved its quota on Sunday, said loan headquarters.

By midnight Sunday five applications in Saskatchewan also had overachieved their minimum objectives.

The town of Standard, Alta., with 200 population, mostly Danes, had more than achieved its quota on Sunday, said loan headquarters.

German Hold On Valtorno's Mouth Broken

8TH ARMY DRIVE

Meanwhile, the British-Canadian army was thrusting toward Jernia in the centre of the Allied line across Italy and generally shifted the weight of its attack power northwest toward Rome. Jernia is an important junction point on the most lateral highway.

British paratroopers penetrated Monte-ellone but withdrew in the face of a strong opposition after some street fighting.

The British and American troops under Lt. Gen. Clark turned new pressure on the slowly yielding German defenses after clinching victory in the battle of the Valtorno, and strong points on both Nazi flanks collapsed under it.

The Americans beat off three strong German counterattacks and stormed through the Valtorno, three miles north of the Valtorno, some 20 miles inland and Ruvian, two miles to the east in the bend of the river.

CARRIED BY INFANTRY

The weight of the advance was carried by infantrymen fighting from muddy footpaths and roads, still ally from flooded streets. But mobile artillery, tanks, and trucks were plowing a way across the Valtorno into the solid bridge-heads beyond.

Advancing British troops in the coastal area already were under the fire of German guns from the Massico Ridge, a 2,300-foot spur of the Valtorno, which loomed over the town of Jernia.

The coastal railroad from Naples to Rome runs along the wooded ridge, into which the British fight their way to wipe out each German gun position in turn as the artillery on plain battles the enemy entrenchments.

NAZIS DESPERATE

The Germans were struggling desperately to hold on to the available piece of high ground overlooking the Valtorno northeast of Jernia in the sector of the American advance, and also were impeding the Allied operations by the use of every possible delaying device.

The large number of prisoners taken since the crossing of the Valtorno, as reported in front line dispatches from British United Press correspondents, and the fact that the Germans were throwing up their last gasp of resistance to stem the Allied advance.

The line now ran from the mouth of the canal first crossed by the Valtorno, eastward through Caserta and Capri, and then through the hamlet of Montone di Sarno, to Caserta, and then northward to a point about 10 miles west of Termoli.

Careful Driving

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—(CP)—Rubber Controller Alan H. Williamson warned Canadian motorists that the use of the new synthetic tires, available only to owners of eligible vehicles, could cause serious blow-out accidents if driven at more than 36 miles an hour.

Mr. Williamson said practical tests of the new tires had shown they would quickly over-heat if driven too fast, if underinflated, or if required to carry too heavy a load, and suggested that drivers should not exceed 36 miles an hour and use proper tire pressure.

Famous British Battleship Has Great Record

Warspite, Blasted in Two Wars, Loggedly Comes Back for More

Of all the great grey-jouled stagers which represent to the peoples of the earth the building of Britain, the battleship Warspite stands out more prominently than any other as the epitome of toughness. Blasted and torn from stem to stern in two wars, she always comes back doggedly for more. Paul Kern Lee, Associated Press correspondent with the British Mediterranean fleet, gives a "personality sketch" of the famous "old lady."—EDITOR.

By PAUL KERN LEE
ABOARD THE BATTLESHIP WARSPIKE IN THE CENTRAL MEDITERRANEAN.—(Delayed)—(AP)—
The "Old Lady" has been at it again.

The old lady, as she is affectionately called by everybody from the commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet down to her lowest rating, is Majesty's battleship Warspite.

Her latest exploit was to add the strategic power of the Mediterranean fleet to the naval fire which played such a large part in the victory at Salerno.

The knowledge that she is the only British battleship in the Mediterranean has been a source of pride to her crew.

Something that also added to her pride was the privilege of escorting into Malta the surrendered Italian fleet.

BLASTED IN TWO WARS
The Warspite has been blasted by bombs and shells in two wars but has always come back full of fight. She has specialized in tough, close work in narrow waters—always perilous for big ships.

On Nov. 28, 1913, the commission pennant was run up on the masthead of the Warspite. The events of her name. The first Warspite was the 29-gun ship built in 1906, the flagship of Sir Walter Raleigh in the battle of Cadix.

There has been a Warspite in the Royal Navy almost all the time since.

One was first blooded in the battle of Jutland in 1916. Her steering went temporarily out of control and the Germans hit her seven times.

It was 1917 before she was ready for sea again, and by then the surface action of the first Great War was over.

Her first test of the second Great War was at Narvik, north of the Arctic Circle. On April 13, 1940, the Warspite and escorting destroyers sailed into narrow twisting fjords. Seven new German destroyers were destroyed and other damage was caused which the Germans never were able to repair.

LONG-RANGE ACTION
On July 9, 1940, she participated in what has been called the Battle of Calabria—the gunnery officer, Lt. Cmdr. John Graham Hamilton, describes it as a "long-range surface action against the fleeing Italian fleet."

The Warspite next went up the African coast to support the desert army and ripped up Fort Capuzzo with 15-inch shells on August 17, 1940. Later she went to the help of the Greeks whom Mussolini had attacked, lambasting Valona, Albania, Dec. 10, 1940, then returned to Africa to do the same for Bardia Jan. 2, 1941.

She beat up Tripoli, April 21, 1941, but sandwiched in between these shore "excursions" was the battle of Cape Matapan.

The Warspite led the line of battle ships, as veterans of the fray describe it, "simply pushed three Italian cruisers to the bottom at point-blank range; they never got a gun trained, it happened so fast."

"This was another victory for the 'Green Woodpecker'." (Sightings in ancient Saxon means green woodpecker. The modern corruption of the Saxon word is spire, so the ship has adopted the bird as a crest.)

NEAR FATAL BLOWS

Then a new kind of bird, Stukas, bred in Germany, dealt the Woodpecker nearly fatal blows. Greece had been lost and a British army was marooned on embattled Crete.

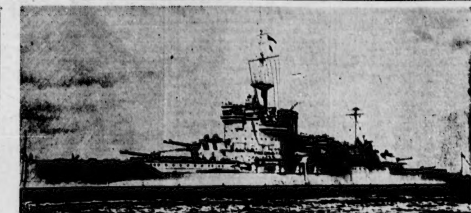

It had to be got out, and the Royal Navy did it, but at grievous cost. So many ships were hit the Warspite was left to cover the evacuation fleet and to try to draw the German air attack to herself.

"They hit her hard, I got the date from the honor roll of dead crew members: May 22, 1941. After that her log shows such names as Alexandria, Colombo, Singapore, Cavite, Pearl Harbor and finally Bremerton, Wash., where her wounds took more than a year to heal."

The Warspite returned to the Mediterranean to do off-shore cover for the Sicilian invasion. When the going got tough on the Catania plain, she got a hurry up call to bombard Catania July 7. She got there from Malta, tossed her 15-inch shells and was back again so quickly that Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Cunningham, then commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet, sent her this signal—"operations well carried out. There is no doubt when the old lady lifts her skirts she still can run."

AIDED IN INVASION
The day before the invasion of the Italian foe the Warspite trundled into Messina Straits and laid waste the Reggio Calabria gun position.

She covered the convoys going in the Salerno gulf. A week later she covered the Italian fleet to safety on Sept. 10, and when the land going was the hardest, she turned to Salerno with the Valiant for bombardments Sept. 15-16.

Court Upholds Rent Control Regulations

CALGARY, Oct. 18.—(CP)—Validity of Canada's rent control regulations fixing maximum rents was upheld by Judge C. J. Ford of the district court of Calgary in a judgment handed down here Saturday.

It was understood to be the first case in the Dominion in which a provincial court has ruled on the validity of the regulations setting maximum rents for housing accommodation in certain designated areas, including Calgary.

His honor found that rent control regulations could not be successfully attacked in the courts on the ground that they were discriminatory.

He referred in particular to Order No. 7 under which the maximum rental for certain premises was fixed at that payable on January 2, 1940.

APPEAL DISMISSED
Judge Ford dismissed the appeal of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, Ltd., from conviction by Magistrate C. C. Sinclair in police court, on a charge that the company charged an excess rental of tenants of premises at 627 5th Ave. West, Calgary, between Dec. 1, 1942, and May 31, 1943.

With respect to alleged discrimination created by Order No. 7 of rent control regulations, his honor said:

"The point is made that if a lease existed on Jan. 2, 1940, the rental payable under that lease was the fixed rental beyond which no increase was allowed."

"If no such lease existed, but there was a lease in effect at some time or times during 1939, the rental payable under the latest lease in 1939 becomes the fixed maximum rental."

"In all other cases, the administrator determines the maximum rental."

SAID DISCRIMINATION
"This is said to be discrimination and the order should therefore be held invalid under the principle of common law that a delegated authority cannot discriminate but must hold the rights of all in an even balance and legislate impartially and uniformly."

"I am unable to find after careful consideration, that discrimination in the sense of being partial and unequal in its operation exists under order No. 7. The board of time Prices and Trade Board has adopted a practical method of manner of fixing maximum rental and although it may not operate in the same way with respect to all housing accommodation, this may be unavoidable in practice under any method that might be adopted."

POPE IS DECLARED Great Benefactor

TOBACCO, Oct. 18.—(CP)—History will place Pope Pius XII among the greatest benefactors of humanity because no one has worked more actively for respect of human and civil law among nations, the first Canadian National Missionary Congress was held Saturday by Most Rev. Hildebrand Antoniutti apostolic delegate to Canada and Newfoundland.

Mgr. Antoniutti disclosed that Archbishop J. C. McGuigan of Toronto, Congress president, has been appointed an assistant to the pontifical throne and a Roman canon.

Most Rev. F. P. Carroll, Bishop of Calgary, said a "desperate shortage of priests and nuns" was a challenge to Canadian missionary zeal.

Most Rev. J. P. Monahan, Archbishop of Regina, presided at a public meeting yesterday at which Bishop Paul Yu-Pin of China spoke.

HITLER ORDERS Last Man Stand In Crimea Area

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, risking the Crimea as another potential Nanking, ordered seven German divisions on that peninsula to "defend, if necessary, to the last man, any attack whether from land, sea or air," the Berlin correspondent of the Social Demokraten said Saturday.

The same correspondent said that in Italy the Nazis intended to evacuate Rome since "the Germans were forced to challenge the whole Catholic world by changing the holy city into a battlefield."

Italians Received War Declaration With Great Apathy

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 13.—(Delayed)—(AP)—The Italian public received the news that Premier Pietro Badoglio's government had declared war against Germany with the utmost apathy. The head waiter in a pre-war tourist resort expressed what appeared to be the general attitude of the Italian masses, saying: "Declaration or no declaration, the war is finished. We knew the declaration was coming. So what?"

Boats of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution have rescued 5,288 lives since the war began, an average of 25 a week. Life-boaters have been awarded 177 medals for gallantry by the institution.

He said the fifth loan was a campaign "as important as any we will fight with battles."

"The time approaches when we must speed repairs at unheard of rate," Gen. McNaughton said.

Gen. McNaughton Urges Support Of Victory Loan

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—(CP)—Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Army overseas, last night called on Canadians, in a broadcast message on the eve of Canada's fifth Victory Loan, to help "end the war in triumph for justice and right" but Canadians in the armed forces may return home soon.

His words were carried across the Dominion on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's national network.

Four years ago the army, navy and air force totalling in all only some few thousand—nothing but a nucleus for our defence," he said.

STRONG FORCE BUILT
"You have taken that bare nucleus for our defence," he said. "You have taken that bare nucleus and out of it and around it have built our military strength until today it stands 500,000 strong."

You have developed our navy from its pre-war tiny size until today we have half a thousand war craft sailing under our own flag on all the oceans of the world."

"And on top of all this," he said, "you have found it possible out of your determination and abundance to provide one billion dollars as an outright gift to Britain and find still another billion to provide mutual aid to other Allies."

He said the fifth loan was a campaign "as important as any we will fight with battles."

Gen. McNaughton Urges Support Of Victory Loan

TORONTO, Oct. 18.—(CP)—Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Army overseas, last night called on Canadians, in a broadcast message on the eve of Canada's fifth Victory Loan, to help "end the war in triumph for justice and right" but Canadians in the armed forces may return home soon.

His words were carried across the Dominion on the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's national network.

"And on top of all this," he said, "you have found it possible out of your determination and abundance to provide one billion dollars as an outright gift to Britain and find still another billion to provide mutual aid to other Allies."

He said the fifth loan was a campaign "as important as any we will fight with battles."

"The time approaches when we must speed repairs at unheard of rate," Gen. McNaughton said.

Air Power

by
Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky

From the standpoint of air power, the acquisition of the Azores represents one of the most valuable developments in the history of this war. Besides its use as a naval harbor, its overall effect is that it enables us to open up an umbrella of protective aviation over virtually the entire North Atlantic.

More accurately, we can now open up three umbrellas—three great areas of aviation patrol—which cover over a mile of solid roof of aerial protection for our shipping. Valuable one of these immense umbrellas planted on the Azores, the other two on Gibraltar and Newfoundland. To gether they offer an uninterrupted canopy.

Hereafter our shipping could enjoy vital air shield only on the so-called northern coast. This involved immense dangers and difficulties during a considerable part of the year, when cold, fog, sleet and other weather conditions made the going hazardous. With the Azores at our disposal, the more desirable and safer southern route will be open. The same lanes subject to protection by our present aircraft, a terrific gain in speed in keeping supply lines open.

The Azores island of Santa Maria is about one thousand miles from Lisbon and only slightly farther from Gibraltar. By a two-way overhead patrol with land-based bombers we can give effective cover to a segment of ocean of crucial importance to our European campaigns and one that has been especially infested with Nazi submarines.

OPPOSING AVIATION

Hereafter most of this area could be patrolled only by carrier aviation, which is subject to a threefold enemy threat: from the air, from submarines and from the surface of the sea, when German raiders are on the loose. The land-based planes which will now take over the task, by contrast, are manned only by opposing aviation.

Fortunately our Flying Fortresses and Liberators are superbly equipped to guard shipping against attack by four-engine Focke-Wulf Kuriers, at the same time that they hunt down and sink U-boats. Until the Nazis can get something superior into the air, we can unquestionably bring more fire power into action than the Focke-Wulfs.

The distance from the westernmost Azores to St. John's, Newfoundland, is about sixteen hundred miles. It can therefore also be covered by continuous air power, half working out of the Azores, the other half out of Newfoundland. Indeed, with the bigger American bombers that soon to be in action, it should be possible to stretch that two-way aerial cover from New York to the Azores, a distance of only two thousand miles.

If Portugal should join the

U.S. FLIERS BAG 7,312 FOE PLANES FOR 1,867 LOSS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(AP)—United States army airmen shot down 7,312 enemy aircraft between Dec. 7, 1941, and Sept. 1, 1943, against a loss of 1,867 United States planes, the office of war information said yesterday in a report on combat plane performance on all fronts.

The outstanding record was made by Maj. Gen. L. Chennault's force in China during the 13 months ended Aug. 4, with a bag of 442 Japanese planes destroyed, 166 probably destroyed, 41,000 tons of shipping sunk and 35,000 tons damaged at a cost of 51 American planes.

United Nations as a full belligerent, a possibility now so widely recognized, the largest invasion of Europe by way of Portugal may become a reality. In that event, obviously, the value of the Azores in guarding the immense shipping for support of an invasion would be made incalculably high.

Despite generally rough terrain, the Azores offer magnificent facilities for basing large aerial forces. Santa Maria has ideal plateau for basing large aerial forces. Santa Maria has an ideal plateau for basing large aerial forces. Santa Maria has an ideal plateau for basing large aerial forces.

BEST NATURAL FIELD

The island of San Miguel has a field, already in working order for some time, which can readily be enlarged to take care of our bombers. But the best natural field is on the island of Terceira; it is a huge plateau, more or less circular, some five miles in diameter. Most of the other islands are unsuited for big airfields, though Alai can offer a number of good bases for pursuit aviation. In addition, of course, there are a number of protected water areas ideal for amphibious aircraft.

With the Azores available to us, the battle of the Atlantic tends to become increasingly an air battle. Eventually, we may be sure, all our Atlantic shipping will be safeguarded by air force, which is without doubt the most efficient protection that can be given to sea lanes. Thus, more and more, sea air power becomes the ward of air power.

Alberta Sailor Home Lone Survivor of St. Croix Owes Life to 'Family Luck'

CALGARY, Oct. 18.—(CP)—"Fishy luck," as anyone in Black Diamond, Alta., will tell you, is quite a phenomenon. And tales about "that lucky Fisher family" are getting to be almost legend in the home district of Leading Stoker William Allan Fisher, who alone of 146 officers and men escaped the sinking of H.M.C.S. St. Croix, and shortly after survived the sinking of a British rescue ship.

"Fishy luck," his family believes, is what brought him back to them, when he jumped lightly from a train in Calgary's C.P.R. depot Saturday morning for the long-awaited reunion with his wife, family, and close friends.

Looking happy despite his ordeal, and the cross-continent trip to his home, the sailor was flooded with kisses from his bride of 10 months.

It was "fishy luck," his family and friends believe, which helped the young hero escape a blast which hit the destroyer from the westward when he was wearing when his ship exploded following the torpedoing.

PREVIOUS ESCAPE

He told of a previous experience, before joining the navy, in which he also escaped a serious mishap with only a light scratch.

At that time he was driving a roadster with only a canvas top, along the south highway, when something went wrong with the car and it turned over. The top was crushed but he was unhurt.

His time, until Thursday, is at the disposal of the Calgary Victory Loan committee, who are arranging a number of public appearances for him.

But Thursday he is going to spend a few days on a long-neglected visit with his brother, Harry, in the R.C.A.F. on the west coast, who journeyed here to see his sailor brother. The two are now on a deer-feeding trip, "probably for a few days," says Harry, and the locality is to be kept a secret, at least from reporters.

Blairmore Miners Vote For Strike

BLAIRMORE, Alta., Oct. 18.—(CP)—A recommendation that a coal mine strike be called Oct. 20, if wage negotiations were not proceeding in a manner satisfactory to the workers at that time, was voted by the Blairmore local of District 18 United Mine Workers of America, at a special meeting Saturday.

The recommendation was sent to headquarters of the district in Calgary along with a resolution endorsing the action of district officials in refusing the deal with the National War Labor Board. The resolution pointed out that the local lacked representation on the board.

The meeting also passed a resolution protesting the proposed deal, which requires the Royal Commission, set up to investigate coal mine wages, to report back to the National War Labor Board and the minister of labor.

LABOR BACKS LOAN

In British Columbia and Ontario there are early evidence of trades unions and labor leaders working strongly with employers to obtain maximum results. This was particularly evident in the appeals of prominent labor leaders on the Pacific coast.

In London, Ont. Huron and Erie Motors Corp. of Canada Trust Co. bought $1,500,000 worth of bonds. General Motors of Canada invested $250,000. Other large subscribers of this morning were: Robin Hood Flour Mills Ltd., Montreal; and Moose Jaw, Sask., $100,000; North American Can Ltd., Niagara Falls, Ont., $120,000; British American Oil Co., Ltd., Toronto, $120,000; International Harvester Co. of Canada, Hamilton, $120,000.

British Columbia labor leaders who took early action to organize unions behind the loan included E. E. Leary, president of the Vancouver Labor Council.

John J. McLaughlin, president of the B.C. Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, said that he would not rest on past laurels any more than the service in the field on past victories.

Birt Shawler, president of Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, said anyone who toured war industry plants would find out not only that they were doing a good job, but how badly it is needed to maintain supplies for the fighting forces.

CELEBRATING

Dan O'Brien, union regional director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said: "If we were to adopt the attitude of the enemy at the end of the war, it is finally won, but we must not let the democratic people of the world believe in and be fighting for."

Among the first responses from labor to the campaign was a declaration by the 5,000 railway employees in British Columbia that they will meet it.

The armed services jumped into the campaign with a declaration by the opening gun, said Jean Haddock, secretary of the campaign. She said that the opening gun was the first purchase of the campaign, said Jean Haddock, secretary of the campaign. She said that the opening gun was the first purchase of the campaign.

FO. Bill Johnston called his parish in Chilliwack, B.C., to invest $500 from his own pocket. Four days before the loan began officially, H.M.C.S. St. Croix, and came the first fishermen's rescue ship to go over its crisis. The 14 crewmen signed for $2,000 at a war cost post.

New Labor Policy May Be Discussed With Provinces

OTTAWA, Oct. 18.—(CP)—In spite of persistent reports that the government's new labor policy will be held up pending a consultation with provincial labor ministers, it was learned on good authority yesterday that the administration stand has not yet been placed in form for such a consultation and will be further considered this week.

While there appear to be good reasons why the new policy should be a matter for consultation with the provinces before it is put into effect, it is possible that the government's proposals will be made known in advance.

Russia Is Willing To Talk Political, Economic Problems

MOSCOW, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Russia is willing to discuss post-war economic problems as well as military issues at the forthcoming three-power conference in Moscow, but holds that the matter of the "second front" should come first, the official government newspaper Izvestia indicated Saturday.

In a front-page article reflecting the government's attitude, Izvestia declared the two superpowers successfully expressed confidence that they will continue to do so.

The exact date of the conference has not been announced.

MADRID, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Frenchmen in Vichy already have celebrated the end of the war, it was learned here yesterday.

The Daily Auparouille published in Toulouse, France, gave a graphic account of the premature joy in Vichy when a local radio announcer declared:

"Ladies and gentlemen, today, Oct. 12, the war has ended. The announcement was made last Tuesday at 8:28 a.m. Scores of Frenchmen rushed to the street crying, and Vichy enjoyed an early morning enthusiasm, until doubling thousands turned in London, New York and Berlin. This is what happened."

While waiting for the morning transmission, an announcer remarked: "Boy, how I would like to announce the war's end." Then he stepped up to the microphone and delivered the fateful words—without realizing the transmission time had begun.

He was arrested.

THE Med-Pharm-Dent squad with several former Golden Bears included simply possessed too much power for the Engineers yesterday, although the big fellows were plenty worried at the half-way mark starting into a two point deficit which easily could have been larger.

So successive without the opposition handling the ball are rather hard to laugh off though and that's what the Engineers had to contend with as the Med Combine rallied down the field for touchdown number two, after being extremely fortunate in their first one.

It was Cooper Johnston's first appearance this season, but he made a big difference to the Med drive as soon as he got worked in. Bert Hall was the handy man though in getting down fast under Mackay's lefty punts and also in wriggling through to score Kijew's play. Hall set the stage for the first touchdown by snaring the spinner which got away from Setters and left the Meds in possession just a couple of yards out.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Oct. 18.—(CP)—New Westminster's Samonbellies won the Canadian lacrosse championship play-off to British Columbia Saturday night, taking the Mann cup away from the Mimico-Brampton Combines with a 22-6 victory that gave them the best-of-five playoff series three games to one.

Playing in front of a second-straight goal set in to replace regular Ed Johnston after the first period, Samonbellies forged ahead in the second period and never looked back. Johnston, apparently off his game, walked off the bench after appearing in the first period. He had scored four goals, and Walt Lee, who took over, displayed a masterful defence.

While a hometown crowd of 4,500 cheered last night, Samonbellies landed a passing offensive which crumpled the eastern defence. The Mimico-Brampton Combines were defeated 9-3 at the half, 14-6 at the end of the third period, and were defeated 22-6 in the final period.

Bill Wilkes was New Westminster's top scorer with five goals. He was assisted by Doug Douglas and Combine Bill Brun, each netted three.

For Mimico it was a sad defeat in a series which was supposed to be a walkover. A week ago last night they opened their invasion with a 10-3 win over the Mimico-Brampton Combines. The Mimico-Brampton Combines seemed to indicate a mastery over the British Columbia Combines.

But they lost the next three games in a row, 10-5 Monday and 17-9 Wednesday. The Mimico-Brampton Combines seemed to indicate a mastery over the British Columbia Combines.

Mimico was handicapped by the loss of their regular goalie, Bert Lee, who injured his knee in the first game and was the real of the series in hospital.

But they lost the next three games in a row, 10-5 Monday and 17-9 Wednesday. The Mimico-Brampton Combines seemed to indicate a mastery over the British Columbia Combines.

As the Mimico attack went into high gear in a series of dazzling passing attacks.

This is the 18th time in 30 years of competition the Mann cup has come to British Columbia, and it's generally agreed that New Westminster is the best team in the west.

James Barton (Mickey) Vernon, regular first baseman of Washington Senators of the American League this year, was added to the roster of recruits at the United States naval training station here Saturday.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Pre-Nuptial Pacts

Would Abate Trouble

Boy and Girl Should Agree on Money Situation, and How They Will Treat Each Other in Matrimony

The reason there are so many disappointed and disgruntled married couples in the world is because being a good husband or a good wife is such a lonely duty. Everyone knows what the qualifications of a good lawyer or doctor or secretary must be and what his or her duties and responsibilities are, but no one knows just what makes a man or woman a good husband or wife.

And what complicates the situation is that a man's idea of being a good husband is entirely different from a woman's idea of what constitutes a good husband, just as a woman's idea of being a perfect wife is not at all a man's conception of one.

WOMEN WANT ATTENTION

A man thinks, for instance, that he is being a good husband if he is as dominant as the house cat and a good provider, but the husband that a woman prizes is one who will keep up his housekeeping and will help her young and beautiful she is no matter how much she gets the middle-aged age spread. As long as a husband will help his wife's hair and clean her teeth, she will be content to be his housewife.

And a woman never doubts that she is getting the best of her husband's devotion if she is devoted to him. She thinks if she looks like a girl, she gives her the right to play the life out of him, and please him with bad cooking.

Thus we have the spectacle that he is getting the best of her husband's devotion if she is devoted to him. She thinks if she looks like a girl, she gives her the right to play the life out of him, and please him with bad cooking.

Non-considering that marriage is the most important contract man and woman ever make, it is a curious thing that we leave it to a sort of gentleman and ladies agreement upon which they go and get on. Can you wonder that it is so?

PRE-NUPRIAL UNDERSTANDING

General idea would be a lot of tears and divorces and quarrels and bickering if, before the marriage, John Doe of the first part, and Jane Roe of the second part, may say, of course, that there is no way in which a marriage contract can be enforced, but if they both agree to make a prenuptial pact, they will be able to see that they are both getting what they want.

The use of punishment or of mechanical restraints to prevent a child from sucking his thumb is a mistake.

Parents, parents, with awful inhumanity, are trying to end the habit in these ways.

My little girl, who says she has many times been told that she is a thumb-sucker, is convinced she is no one but a thumb-sucker.

When my little girl was a tiny babe, I tried everything I could think of to get her to stop sucking her thumb.

Joan Whitby Married Saturday To Sqn. Ldr. James E. Walker

WHITE and bronze chrysantheums were banked on the altar, and adorned the chancel rail of Christ church on Saturday for an early afternoon wedding service, when Miss Barbara Joan Whitby, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lancelotti of Vermilion, pledged marriage vows with Sqn. Ldr. James Elmalch Walker, D.F.C. and D.M.S., R.C.A.F., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker of Edmonton.

Germans Are Bewildered And Puzzled

By MARGARET ECKER

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—(C.P.)—To the people of Germany, laughter is bewildering, and even wartime prisoners in the Reich are happier than its free citizens. That's the opinion of the German housewife, that Isabel Russell, Guernsey, a Canadian woman, paints in "Free Trip to Berlin".

Describing her long months of internment in Berlin, after she was prisoner when the British were expelled from the city in April, 1942, she says: "Strange how often I could not much savor for the Germans than for ourselves. Which was neither complex nor Christian, clearly, but just plain, unavoidable common sense. It was a sad city, that city of Berlin, and grew progressively sadder. So many hopeless looking people. We ourselves did a lot of laughing, and whenever we did it, in public, in street cars, underground, or in cafes, faces would look up at around us bewildered faces—what could they be laughing about?"

Of the German people, even when the news was good from the Russian front, she says: "They looked sad and void." When Hitler spoke to the people in April, 1942, "these faces looked troubled and downcast. Yet, Berlin seemed to me a sad city, full of sad, sad, sad people."

PARALYZED BY FEAR

When the R.A.F. returned to Berlin and Cologne in thousand-plane raids, the reaction, said Mrs. Russell, "was just plain paralysis of fear."

Certainly the Berliners were not the stuff of which heroes are made, her companions from the Zamzam. They had much to laugh at, and to laugh at, but with Mrs. Russell's telling, the saga of their journey takes on an almost Gilbert and Sullivan atmosphere. There's much to laugh at in "Free Trip," just as the Zamzams, at the writer calls them, found humor in their own adversity.

As she explains in the foreword: "Seven Canadian women, unknown to one another, had assumed the names of the German people to reach Africa. The emergency was going to be a long one, and they were to be married to a husband there. So we sailed on the Egyptian ship Zamzam—scheduled to New York to Cairo, to Tunis—and reached Germany instead."

The road they travelled to the camp was a rough one. The Zamzam was torpedoed in the south Atlantic where the survivors were picked up by the Tenebris, a Nazi raider. From there they were shipped to a prison ship, the Dresden. Of the trip from that point to Juvenat, Mrs. Russell said: "The only word describing that five weeks is 'loathsome.' The ship was built to accommodate 20,000, but carried 200 prisoners as well as 2000 crew members."

IN PRISON AND OUT

But the Canadians grew used to communal living. From Bordeaux they were shipped to Germany, and Germany in a jammed prison train, fed once a day on bread and horse meat. "There was no drinking water on the train and practically no water for the prisoners," she said.

At Bremerhaven they started their merry-go-round of German camps. Bremerhaven, Hamburg, St. Pauli, more prison trains, until they came to Liebenow, a Berlin suburb. Camp, half prison, half asylum for the feeble-minded.

Later they were allowed to live in a hotel in Berlin, and in the last days of April, 1942, the author and her friend, Miss Strachan of Toronto, moved to the summer home, a lovely dacha in Berlin. Finally, on June 13, 1942, the Canadian government arranged their exchange voyage home.

The writer says: "This is mostly a story about people—people I met and grew to know in Germany. My hope is simply that they, through me, may shed a little light that hasn't been shed before."

And so her book is for all people, little people of Germany, the kindly Little Sisters of the poor at Liebenow, Berlin shoe keepers, who said: "We didn't want this war," and gave the internees extra milk and cheese; and of later Berlin woman of fashion, who wanted to improve her hairdressing, so she could talk to her American admirers.

FUEL SAVER
This coming winter, hot water bottles will probably be dug out of the dark recesses of the family cupboard. With the cold weather, they will get along with cooler houses. It is but a little thing, but a hot water bottle will be a welcome bed-fellow. Being made of rubber, they must be treated with care. Boiling water should never be used. The bottle should not be more than three-quarters full, before inserting the stopper, allow steam to escape. When empty the bottle is hung upside down to allow all water to drain away.

Noted Canadian Editor Honored On Anniversary

WINNIPEG, Oct. 12.—(CP)—One of Canada's outstanding citizens—John Wesley Dufoe, author, editor, educationalist, and leading authority on Dominion and international affairs—celebrates here Saturday night on the 60th anniversary of his entry into newspaper work.

More than 400 persons—including many dignitaries—attended the testimonial dinner sponsored by the Winnipeg Press Club. Hundreds of congratulatory messages rolled in from friends in all parts of Canada. Mr. Dufoe, 77, editor-in-chief and president of the Winnipeg Free Press, in a modest way gave his life story—a colorful story of newspaper growth from four-page tabloids to modern dailies of stirring pioneer days, political battles, and Canada's growth to nationhood.

DEAN OF NEWSMEN
The dean of western newspapermen, whose words of wisdom on political and economic affairs of the country continue to flow from his pen, was just a 17-year-old "green" country kid when he began as a cub reporter on the Montreal Star in 1865.

He told of the day, 60 odd years ago, when every boy or girl was born as either a "little Liberal" or a "little Conservative" of party and independent newspapers, of the secondary place given news compared with the spread given editorial views.

Recalling his arrival in Winnipeg, a city of 16,000, in 1886, Mr. Dufoe said those were the days when newspapers were dying or being born to rapidly. It was difficult to keep track of them.

MENTIONS REBELLION

Mr. Dufoe mentioned the Riel rebellion and spoke of political careers, including Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Conservative and Liberal prime ministers, respectively. Born at Combermere, Ont., Mr. Dufoe was the Montreal Star's parliamentary correspondent in 1884 and 85, editor of the Ottawa Journal 1885-86, writer for the Winnipeg Free Press 1886-1892, editor of the Montreal Herald 1892-96, editorial member of the Montreal Star 1895-1901, and with the Winnipeg Free Press as editor-in-chief since then.

Turkey Gloomy Of Future Peace

ISTANBUL, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Turkish newspaper Tan took a gloomy view of the future peace Saturday following the Allied move granting co-belligerent status to Italy.

"It is not easy to reconcile the Allied actions in extending Italy's hope for her African and Mediterranean colonies with Allied principles because Italy in the last few years has caused the blood of hundreds of thousands to flow to further imperialistic aims," Tan said.

"The Allies lost the peace in the last war because they sacrificed ideals to the old game of diplomacy. The fact that they show the same tendency is a bad sign for humanity as well as for themselves."

Other Turkish newspapers predicted that the Allies will get as little assistance from the Badoglio government as the Germans are getting from Mussolini's puppet regime in northern Italy.

R.C.A.F. Stations Over Loan Quota

CALGARY, Oct. 12.—(CP)—Before the official opening of the Fifth Victory Loan, command headquarters and stations of No. 4 Training Command, R.C.A.F., topped their million dollar quota set by Ottawa, it was announced today.

Official figures released by Air Vice Marshal G. R. Howman, M.C., air officer commanding, set the first total at $1,067,700 with several stations yet to be heard from.

With their quota behind them, the highly-organized bond committees on R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. stations set their sights for a new over-subscription record.

In a statement Air Vice Marshal Howman congratulated the personnel of the command for their effort.

Nazi Ball-Bearing Plant Said "Out" For Next 2 Years

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The newspaper Nya Dagligt Alla-handa yesterday quoted a Swedish industrial expert as saying that the damage inflicted on the German ball and roller-bearing industry by Allied bombers is so severe that it would take two years before full production can be resumed. He described the blow struck by American bombers Thursday on Schweinfurt as having reduced ball-bearing production in Germany 70 per cent.

Described as having an intimate knowledge of the German industrial situation, the expert was quoted as declaring that only one major ball-bearing producer is left in Germany—the D.W.F. factory near Berlin.

Irish moss found in the waters off the North Atlantic coast is used in publishing, medicines, cosmetics and lotions.

Sixty Per Cent. Of Nazi Fighters Battered Bombers

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The newspaper Attensidan yesterday quoted a German underground radio Saturday as saying the Nazis massed 60 per cent of their total fighter strength Thursday in a futile effort to prevent American bombers from reaching the vital ball bearing plants at Schweinfurt. The broadcast said the German secret service got five hours' warning of the raid and that planes were called from hundreds of fields in the Reich and France for massed defence along the path to the south central German target.

Every type of fighting plane was said to have been sent against the raiders.

When the Victory Loan salesman comes to your door—be ready to help
SPEED THE VICTORY

On four previous occasions Canadians have all worked together to put Canada's four Victory Loans over the top. Last Spring, two and a half million folks from factories, farms and mines, from the Armed Services, offices and homes, came forward and loaned their savings and their earnings to help win the war.

Today, as Winston Churchill has said, the war "is perhaps entering for us British and Americans upon its most severe and costly stage". Today Canada has more forces in the field. Today production from our factories, shipyards, mines and farms is on a scale many times greater than ever before. So Canada asks her people to support the greatest Victory Loan of all.

5,200,000 Canadians are now earning money throughout the Dominion. Each and every loyal Canadian is asked to do his or her part. Teamwork is needed for quick and complete victory. Let us all work together to make this loan a success—to speed the Victory.

See how easy it is to buy a VICTORY BOND

The Victory Loan salesman will explain all the details about buying Victory Bonds. First, you can buy a Victory Bond out of your savings. Then, you can also buy a second bond out of your future earnings, on the installment plan. These bonds pay you interest each half-year.

It is a sound plan to lay aside money regularly for the future. Victory Bonds help to bring security and happiness for the days to come.
